HAVE AN ADVENTURE

This is Mackinac

Witness the power of the creek harnessed to cut timber into lumber as well as a demonstration of the older pitsaw method of lumber production. Visit the reconstruction of the original millwright's house. Then, set yourself on an exciting adventure through the trees on the Adventure Tour!

Discover Nature

Trained naturalists present daily programs on the vast number of plant and animal species that live in this northern ecosystem. More than 620 acres and three miles of accessible trails cross the dog-friendly park, abounding with wild plant and animal life. Young visitors can explore the Forest Friends Play Area. Even the novice hiker will find adventure in the northern forests.

Discover the Past

Forgotten in the late 1800s, Mill Creek was rediscovered in 1972 and reconstructed after extensive archaeological work. A working 18th-century water-powered sawmill turns logs into lumber while the millwright describes the impact this industrial revolution had on the region.

Discover the Adventure Tour

The Adventure Tour is a special, guided experience that takes visitors up the five-story Treetop Discovery Climbing Wall, over the Forest Canopy Bridge and down the 425-foot Eagle's Flight Zip Line. Restrictions apply. Visit mackinacparks.com for safety guidelines.
